GOVERNOR HILL ACCEPTS. He Stands by Cleveland's Policy and

Declares for Civil Service Reform. Gov. Hill has made public his letter accepting the nomination for governor of New York by the democratic state convention. "This nomination," he says, "I gratefully accept. To be the candidate of the party which has given to the state such distinguished executives as Marcy, Wright, Seymour, Hoffman, Tilden, Robinson and Cleveland is both an honor and a responsibility which I fully appreciate."

He indorses the platform without qualification, concurring particularly in the indorsement of President Cleveland. In this connection he says:

"Most cordially do I concur in the declaration that the democracy of the state tender to President Cleveland their 'hearty approbation of the public policy which has governed his official actions, their confidence in the wisdom of his administration and their appreciation of his 'firm, consistent and conscientlous conduct as President.' The republican platform, on the other hand, in ill-tempered language, denounces as 'hypocritical pretenses' the efforts which the President has made for the purification of the public service, the correction of long-existing abuses, and his professed desire and honest endeavors for better government; and it 'condemns the national administration' for every reform which it has inaugurated in the management of the finances, in the regulation of the commerce and in the enforcement of the laws of the country. The issue thus snarply presented by the platforms of the two parties cannot be changed by the individual utter-ances of candidates or the unauthorized explanations of party newspapers. Our opponents, as a party, are opposed to the policy and principles of President Cleveland, and their success at the ensuing election would surely be proclaimed throughout the country as a condemnation of his administration. The hands of the President will be strengthened by a victory of his party friends, not by the success of the enemies of his party." He then continues: "I believe that the civil service of the country should be reformed. My views upon this sublect have been previously expressed in many oublic utterances, were stated in my message o the legislature in January last, and have been exemplified in the conscientious enforcement of the civil service law of the state during my administration of the office of governor. declares himself in favor of municipal reform and for "home rule for cities." He favors legislation in the interest of labor, recommending the prevention of the competition of convict or with free labor, provision by law for arbitration between labor and capital and laws for equalizing taxation. The choice of the personnel of the various boards and commisdons, such as the civil service and railroad commissions, he declares, should be based, not apon partisanship, but apon competency and integrity. He gives a long list of the reforms accomplished since the state government came into the hands of the democrats in 1882, and says that "much more might have been accomplished had not the recommendations of the executive been disregarded by hostile legislatures during two of those years. The national democratic administration during the lew tions of the people, and by pledges fulfilled, has high-heeled shoes. I didn't feel the commenced itself to patriotic citizens without much, on account of the excitement. distinction of party.

GEN, JONES ACCEPTS THE NOMINATION FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR. Gen. Edward F. Jones sends in his letter accepting the nomination for lieutenant governor at the same time. He says: "The great wealth of our country places, beyond excuse any neglect to bountifully provide for indigent soldiers, their widows and orphans. "Absurdities of Evolution." REV. T. DEWITT TALMAGE UNDERTAKES TO RE-FUTE DARWIN AND THE REST.

From the Philadelphia Times, to-day. A large and inteffigent andience listened last night, in the Academy of Music, to the lecture A school GIRL BRUTALLY MALTREATED BY Absurdities of Evolution," "Whether," began the speaker, "we leave to the evolutionist where we came from or to the theologian where we are going we still have the highly interesting fact that we are here. Evolution," said the speaker, "is out and out insidelity. All the scientists the world over who are evolutionists are inddels. The Bible says that man was created whole. Darwin says that man is a development from a germ, and he follows him through all of his gradations from a tadpole to an ape and at last to a man. But as Darwin was not at the creation and Ged was, I prefer to take God's account of that interesting event. I ask the scientists. Who made the germ which they talk about? Who first gave lite? Spencer is manly enough to acknowledge that it was created by the Great Unknown. Speaking of the theory of the survival of the fittest, the le-turer asked: "Did not Guiteau survive Garneid? Did you never know the fairest of a family to die? Thousands upon housands of the bravest and fairest sons of the north and the south perished in our great rebellion. Can we say that they perished beause those who survived them were fitter? No. Natural evolution is not upward, but downward. There was a time when men were ten feet high. Now five feet eight inches is eir average height. When you can find an oratorio eeveloping from the whizzing of a buzz saw or pippins from a basket of decayed erab apples, then you will see evolution going upwards. Evolution is an old corpse left over m the ancients, which Darwin and Spencer tried to galvanize into life. They say there is a missing hak, but I tell you there is a whole chain missing between the ape and man. Evolutionists say that when one species develop a higher the old species dies out. If the ape developed the man why is it that there are yet whose kingdoms of apes and monkeys? Would it not have been as great a miracle for God to turn an ape into a man as it was for Him to make a man outright? I put one loot on Darwin's Origin of the Species' and I put my other foot on Spencer's Biology, and then holding in one hand the Book of Moses I see our Genesis, and holding in the other hand the Revelations I see our celestial arrival. and four children have left Bridgport, Ill., for Payson, Utah, to become active members of the Mormon church. Two of the party were young women, and the children were about diffeen years of age. They were converted and baptised last spring by Mormon missionaries, who have been industriously working in that section. The iemale portion of the party up-held polygamy, and all talk as if expecting to practice it. The converts had previously been Methodists and Presbyterians. They are far from being cranks, and their standing has made their departure a sensation. A great deal of feeling has developed against them and the missionaries. The converts have been egged and otherwise maltreated since their aptism into the Mormon faith. There is talk of lynching the missionaries if they return.

THREATENING RETALIATION ON HIGH TAR-IFF COUNTRIES. - The Liverpool chamber of commerce reports to the royal commission on trade depression that there has been a gradual decline in trade during the past ten years, and that the number of vessels is largely in excess of the demand. OPPOSITION TO THE SOUTH DAKOTA CONSTI-Mitchell, Dakota, October 15, says: The demo-cratic central committee held an all-night secret session last night in this city and formulated an address to the democrats, advising that they take no action regarding the constitution re-cently framed for south Dakota, and to refuse to participate in the election called to adopt the same and to elect state officers. They denounce the constitutional movement as unjust to north Dakota, voters of which section were given no voice in the matter. An executive committee of one from each judicial district was appointed, and D. M. Inman was elected chairman.

CONFIDENT OF GEN. LEE'S ELECTION,-The Virginia democratic committee met at Richmond yesterday. Encouraging reports were re-ceived from all parts of the state, and it was afterwards announced that from statements made the committeemen teel justified in asserting that the election of Gen. Representatives from a number of doubtful counties were present to ask the committee for help, and were promised all the assistance that the committee could afford.

ANOTHER WALKING MATCH. O'Leary and Weston to Meet Again.

IN OLD TIMER'S OPINIONS OF PEDESTRIANS AND PEDESTRIANISM-MONEY MADE AND DIS-TANCES COVERED.

Daniel O'Leary, the famous pedestrian, is in hiladelphia for a few days and intends going to New York to sign articles with Weston, the father of pedestrianism, for a six days heel and toe walk, which will probably take place in as a strategist in politics is second to no man in Madison Square garden. O'Leary said that he the United Kingdom. received $14,000 for his famous walk with Weston in London several years ago. In an interview in the Philadelphia Times about pedesrianism and pedestrians, he said:

"Weston has made three fortunes. I don't know whether he's rich, but he has a beautiful place at High Bridge, just out of New York city. When he walked through England on the temperance scheme the temperance society of London gave him a check for $10,000. "Rowell has made $90,000 walking and he has always taken good care of his money. He doesn't speculate. I have made $150,000 since 1874, but I've lost a great deal of money in speculation. Hazael has made over $40,000 in this country and Hart, the colored man, got $16,500 for one week at Madison Square garden, where he won the O'Leary belt in March, 1880. Vint never made a great deal of money and Campana never got a great deal of wealth. Hughes got $4,400 out of one race in New York, and whea he walked against me for the Astley beit he got $3,800. Noremac has made a good deal of money and so has Fitzgerald. Harriman made $8,200 in one race at the Madison Square garden and John Ennis made $12,500 out of one walk. He is now a contractor in Stamford, Conn. George Guion, of Chicago, made money. Sehmehl, the German pedestrian, has made a snug little bundle, too.

SOME GREAT PEDESTRIANS. "I think," continued O'Leary, "that Rowell is the greatest prominent pedestrian in the world, and I believe he can go 650 miles in six days; his record now is 606 miles. I pelieve he come over here to try to walk 650 miles and then permanently retire. There was a man named James Albert, of this city, who think was the greatest pedestrian in the world. I believe he could beat any man who ever walked. Weston will do some surprising walking in his match with me. Frank Hart, the colored walker, can give Rowell the closest race. I brought Hart out, but he is an ungrateful fellow. Hughes is a good man yet, and Vint is a great little man, and Noremac is another great little pedestrian. Harriman did some great work and so did Ennis. George Guion is a pleturesque pedestrian; so is Vaughan. Sehmehl did some great walking with me in San Francisco. Walking has not worn me out. I have walked 75,000 miles and I expect to beat my record in my walk with Weston. Rowell has walked probably 50,000 or 60,000 miles. Hazael has done 20,000 or 30,000 miles. Hart has covered about 40,000 miles, and others have tramped thousands.

The hours in the last two days seem shorter to me than in the early part of the Walk. The second day is always the longest. COOLIES BONES TO BE GROUND FOR PHOSPHATE.—The bark John Lowering, commanded by Capt. William Cook, arrived at Philadelphia Thursday morning with the most ghastly kind of a cargo. It consisted of the bones and skulls of coolies who have died in the vicinity of Havana. PARNELL'S LIEUTENANTS. Characteristics of the Orators Now Fir ing the Irish Heart. From the New York Sun. How strong Mr. Parnell's party is in the num ber of its eloquent advocates in Ireland is not generally known in this country. It is a fact that Parnell and his immediate adherents constitute a band as able and eloquent as was ever devoted to any cause in any land. Mr. Parnell himself, Thomas Sexton is "the orator" of the Irish parliamentary party. Fluent, poetic, polished, he stands in the house next to "the Grand Old Man" who so long directed the affairs of the nation. Sexton is the orator to capture an assembly of educated men, as the poetry and finish of his speeches are not so well fitted to impress a miscellaneous out-door assembly.

Thomas Power O'Connor is one of the ablest men in parliament. He is elequent, forcible and argumentative. He eschews rhetorical flourishes and appeals to the reason with facts. Timothy Michael Healy, generally known as "Tim" Healy, is probably the ablest man in the Irish party. He is not an orator in the true sense of the word, but he can make a rattling, slashing, dashing, dare-devil attack. He is essentially the man for an Irish audience, as he hits the nail on the head every time.

William Redmond is a dashing, brilliant young fellow, who has been more than once in America. He has fire and eloquence, but he offends sometimes by an evident self-conceit hat especially does not become his years. Edmund Leamy, of Waterford, was a school-mate of Sexton. He is a bright, eloquent man, but a little bashful. John O'Connor, member for Tipperary, is able, fearless and a good speaker.

Justin McCarthy, the historian, one of Parnell's first lieutenants, seldom takes the stump, but is a good man in the house. His son, Justin D. McCarthy, novelist, author, etc., takes an active part in public meetings, bright assistant of Parnell in parliament and is a good man for an out-door meeting.

Joseph G. Biggar, father of obstruction, is not an educated man, but he has learned to speak fairly well, and is very popular with an Irish audience. He calls a spade a spade every time. Arthur O'Connor is a brilliant speaker and a

Thus spoke Mrs. Minnie McGill on the witness stand in Judge Moran's court in Chicago a few days ago. Seburg C. It is a contested divorce suit, and will last several days, Mrs. McGill, who wore a navy blue cloth dress, is quite good looking. We were often without any food at home, and our clothes were of the poorest. He would not even allow me to keep a little canary bird, saying it was extra expense and that it cost a penny a day to feed him. The bird was a gift from my sister. He told me he was earning from $18 to $22 a week as a pattern maker. I asked him for $8 a week to keep us all-food, clothing and everything-but he refused, and when I needed five cents for some little thing he would not even give it to me. The morning I left him saw him take Clay, one of my boys, into the next room and lock it. In a little while the boy came out and said to me: 'Female give me some bread.' I said to him: 'Clay, you must not speak to mamma like that; you must say Please, mamma, give me some bread.' At that nothing but a female, anyhow, and he has got a right to call you that, and then he began to call me vile names. Then I left the house, taking my two smallest children with me. From further testimony it appeared that Mr. McGili had taken his two boys, Clay and Tyndale, along with him and left the city. Early last year the wife ascertained that he was at No. 275 South Fourth street, Brooklyn. She went there, found her two children in the street, and took them. Her husband had her arrested, but the judge discharged her. She took her children home to Chicago and has kept them ever since. The husband is also charged with infidelity committed in Newark N. Easy Victory for Hanlan and Lee. THEY REST TWICE IN THE RACE, BUT ROW AWAY FROM COURTNEY AND CONLEY ALL

The race between Hanlan and Lee and Court

After the word Hanlan and Lee caught the water and sent their shell half a length to the front and gradually increased their lead with a steady thirty-eight stroke, Courtney and Conley pulling unevenly. In this order the boats continued for the first quarter of a mile, Hanlan and Lee gradually increasing their lead until three-quarters of a length was gained. Then Courtney and Conley settled down to steady work and the crews kept the same relative distance to the half mile. From this on to the three-quarters both crews seemed to be pulling "for all they were worth." At the creased the gap. Hanlan smiled at Courtney's rowing at the mile. Hanlan and Lee made the turn first with apparent ease. Courtney and Conley steered wild and took Hanlan and Lee's water. They zig-zagged all over the course from the mile to the turn, which they made clumsily. They rowed slowly and steadily, however, after making the turn. Entering on the last mile, Hanlan and Lee had the race well in hand, and began to take things coolly, with three open lengths between them and Courtney and Conley and giving the latter their wash. When two and one-half miles were completed, Hanlan and Lee rested a few sec onds, and repeated this performance later. Courtney and Conley, owing to these "rests," had nearly reached their stern, when Hanlan and Lee again settled down to work, and with a dozen strokes sent their shell four lengths into the lead. They slacked up a little, however, towards the finish, yet won by three lengths. Hanlan was hailed with great enthusiasm. CONSUL AT MANDALAY. A dispatch from Raugoon says that British troops are massing in the direction of Burmah. The London Telegraph states that the British government has given Lord Dufferin carte Haas, the French consul, is ill, and will return to France to-morrow. M. Haas recently secured valuable concessions from King Thebaw for a French company, and it is alleged that his intrigues at the Burmese court were the cause of that government's arbitrary action in the case of the Bombay and Burmah corporation, which has resulted in the present troubles between Burmah and the government of India. M. Bouteiller, formerly French vice consul at Philadelphia, has been appointed to the con-sulship at Mandalay in place of M. Haas, who has been recalled in consequence of a demand from Lord Salisbury for his removal. The French government has disavowed the action

Riel's Sentence to be Commuted. PROOF THAT HE IS AN AMERICAN CITIZEN. It is understood in London that the sentence of death passed on Louis Riel, the leader of the half-breed rebellion in Canada, will be commuted to life-long servitude.

Ambrose Chouquet, an attorney in Rochester, N. Y., and counsel for the French Canadian zenship, which bears the seal of the United States district court for Montana, and it is dated May 17, 1880. The witnesses are the clerk and deputy clerk of the court. Judge D. S. Wade is the signer of the paper. Mr. Chouquet alleges that the original certificate of citizenghip fell into the hands of Gen. Middleton, who refused to give it up.

An Italian Assaults a Child. A BRUTAL CASE IN BALTIMORE-THE STORY OF

THE VICTIM. The Baltimore American of to-day says: A shocking case of outrage upon a child was heard yesterday morning before Justice Sanner, at and prices, in Brown Berlins, Camels Hair, Knicke was charged with having, on or about the 26th day of September last, indecently assaulted Caroline Acetta, about ten years old, who lives at No. 105 East Prattstreet. The child is small a brutal countenance. He is about forty years old, and is said to have a wife and children living in Italy. The day the assault occurred the girl took a pair of shoes to the shop to be mended. She was afraid to reveal the story of the assault to her mother. The mother a few days ago noticed the child was sick, and daily growing worse. A physician was called in, and it was found that she was suffering from a loathsome disease. Yesterday Mrs. Acetta learned who had outraged her daughter, and had Sansone arrested. The child gave her evidence before the justice in a straightforward way, which left no doubt as to the guilt of the party accused. Dr. W. H. Hill furnished a certificate stating the injuries and condition of the child. After being told the penalty of his crime, Sansone broke down and wept bitterly. He was committed for the action of the grand

A Remarkable Escape. From the Marlboro' (Md.) Gazette. A little after dark on Wednesday night last as Mr. Joshua T. Clarke, jr., and Mr. Richard Peach were returning home from Collington on horseback, an accident occurred to Mr. Peach which might have proved fatal. They had reached the public road where it winds through the Park woods, between Collington and Mitchelville, when Mr. Clarke heard a wagon com-ing up behind them (it was too dark to see anything). He called to Mr. Peach to get out of the road, but Mr. Peach, being a little deaf, did not hear him. Mr. Clarke had barely time to jump his horse out of the road when the wagon drawn by two runaway horses, rushed by. The tongue of the wagon struck Mr. Peach's sad-die, tearing it from the horse's back and throwing him high in the air, and in his fall be fel between the two horses. He was dragged fifty yards or more, and when found by Mr. Clarke was covered with blood. He was carried home, and on examination it was found that, though terribly bruised, no bones were broken, and it s hoped that he will be out in a short time. The runaways belonged to Mr. Hicks.

CANON FARRAR ON BROWNING .- Canon Far rar's lecture in Baltimore last evening on Robt Browning was listened to by a large and brilliant audience. He extolled the poet in the highest terms, and endeavored to entirely vindicate him against the charges of his critics which are in effect that his poetry is not melocomplaining of repeated inroads by robber dious, and is obscure. He quoted liberally to bands from Bulgaria. It is supposed that this prove that Browning, when he chose, could be as melodious as Tennyson, and as conspicuou as any bard in the language. Analyzing the quality of Browning's poetry, he said it exhib ited nature-painting as vivid as that of Tenny. son, and was as realistic as Zola or Dickens But, unlike them, he did not revel in things strange and horrible, purely for themselves but used them to inculcate great physical and moral truths.

ON TRIAL FOR WIFE MURDER.-The trial of Warren E. Carpenter for the murder of his wife last December began in Oswego, N.Y., yesterday Carpenter is about 50 years old and was a well to-do farmer, living in the town of Sandy Creek, Oswego county. He married the woman with whose murder he is charged about three years ago. The couple did not live happily Carpenter claims that on a certain night las December he found his wife dead with her head and shoulders immersed in a tub of water. A coroner's inquest was held, but the woman was any suspicion attaching to he husband. After the burial ugly rumors began to be current about the domestic infelicity of Carpenter and his wife, and the body was exhumed and another inquest held. A bruise, thought to have been caused by a stick, was found over one eye, and there was no water in the large. the lungs. Carpenter was charged with having murdered his wife and then placing the body where found. Last January he was indicted for murder in the first degree, and has been in Jail ever since. Carpenter has one son by a former wife, who is a physician. Ex-Attorney General Russell is counsel for Carpenter. An extra panel of 100 jurors has been drawn. Previous to his wife's death Carpenter bore a good repu-

A STOCKHOLDER WHO WANTED INFORMATION.—A New York dispatch of last night is as follows: It is said that there was quite a scene in the Western Union stockholders' meeting yesterday. J. C. Reiff, of Woershoffer & Co., a small stockholder, astonished the managers of the meeting by asking for information about the exact relations of the Mutual Union company as a part of the Western Union system, and on falling to receive the desired explanation he moved for the appointment of a committee to examine the accounts and furnish a full report to the stockholders. After some sparring, Mr. Field raised the question of Mr. Rieff's right to offer such a resolution, and the secretary of the meeting reported that the only right of a stockholder defined in the by-laws was the right to vote for directors. On Mr. Field's motion, therefore, the resolution was tabled and the discussion cut off. A STOCKHOLDER WHO WANTED INFORMA-

ERIE RAILROAD CHANGES.-At a meeting of ERIE RAILROAD CHANGES.—At a meeting of the board of directors of the Erie railway in New York yesterday, the resignation of Mr. E. S. Bowen as vice president was accepted, and Mr. S. M. Felton was made first vice president and Mr. Charles Pain second vice president. William Clements, formerly of the Baltimore and Ohio, was made general superintendent of the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio division, to take the place of Mr. Felton, promoted. Mr. Edward Foley has resigned the position of general agent in charge of the domestic and foreign eastbound traffic at New York. Mr. J. S. Hammond, formerly agent at Buffalo, was made general freight agent in place of Mr. Foley.

A petition was numerously signed in Stockton, Cal., yesterday in which the signers piedge themselves to drive out the Chinese by all the lawful means within their power.

Herbert J. Aldrich was killed and Wm. Chapman fatally injured by falling from the reof of the French Catholic church at North Adams, Mass., which they were slating.
